Biography

Emily Di Bratto is a member of the 2023-2024 Articling Student class at Cassels. Emily graduated from the Schulich School of Law at Dalhousie University with a Business Law Certificate. At law school, she was the Vice President of Finance for the Dalhousie Law Student Society. Emily also worked with the Canadian Bar Association through Pro Bono Dalhousie on an ongoing research project about judicial independence in courts across the country. Prior to starting law school, Emily graduated with a Bachelor of Science in Mathematics from York University. She then worked as a project coordinator for a commercial construction company.

In her free time, Emily enjoys trying new restaurants, reading novels, and spending time with her friends and family.
