During law school, Shae served as Co-President of the University of Toronto's First Generation Network chapter, where she represented, advocated for, and mentored law students who were the first in their family to attend post-secondary. Additionally, Shae was involved with Ultra Vires, the Faculty of Law's independent student newspaper, serving as Co-Editor-in-Chief in her final year of law school. Before joining Cassels as a summer student, Shae worked as a student caseworker at a community legal clinic, where she represented low-income and student clients in employment matters and academic appeals.

Prior to law school, Shae graduated with First Class Honours from the University of Calgary, receiving a Bachelor of Health Sciences in Biomedical Sciences. After completing her undergraduate degree, Shae worked for Residence Services at the University of Calgary, where she managed on-campus student housing occupancy, drafted student housing contracts, revised residence conduct policies, and adjudicated cases of student non-academic misconduct.

In her spare time, Shae enjoys snowboarding, digital and film photography, and natural wine, having received her WSET 2 qualification with distinction from the Independent Wine Education Guild.
