Biography

Terri Abraham (she/her/hers) is a member of the 2026–2027 Articling Student class at Cassels.

Terri earned her JD from the University of Calgary, where she focused on entrepreneurial and business law and participated in the Business Ventures Clinic, providing legal information to startup businesses under the supervision of practising lawyers.

Prior to law school, Terri earned a BSc in Civil Engineering from the University of Alberta and obtained her P.Eng. designation. She also holds an MBA from the University of Calgary.

Terri brings more than 15 years of commercial and leadership experience in the energy sector to her legal practice, along with an entrepreneurial background as an owner and operator of a franchise business in the health and fitness industry.

Terri has also been actively involved in the community, including previously serving as President of the Generations of Hope board, a charitable organization that supports individuals and couples facing the financial costs of fertility treatment.

Outside of work, Terri enjoys spending time with her family, travelling, and staying active.
